

WITHOUT MIND
OR ANY FRIENDS

Pitiable Case of Demented Woman Found in Rushville This Week

HUSBAND IS INDIFFERENT

Seemingly Was Not Interested in His Help Mate's Welfare.

There is a pitiful story back of an incident which occurred here Wednesday afternoon. Officer Pea found a demented woman in the west end of the city and after telling him a story of mistreatment at the hands of her husband, her mind began to wander, and the only rational information he could get from her, was the fact that she lived in or near Shelbyville. Mr. Pea secured a ticket for the woman and sent her to Shelbyville on the afternoon train.

Of the woman and her troubles, the Shelbyville Republican says:

"When the train on the J. & M. & I. railroad arrived in this city shortly after 4 o'clock Wednesday evening, one of the passengers who alighted from the train was Mrs. Robert Titus, of Washington township, who was recently declared a person of unsound mind by a sanity commission in Shelby county.

"After the train pulled out of the station, Mrs. Titus went over on Van Avenue, where she seated herself in a chair on the porch at the home of Mrs. Louis McCarty. Mrs. McCarty tried to make the lady move on, but she refused, and Sheriff John Butler was called. He brought Mrs. Titus to the county jail and she spent the night in the residence part of the building. She stated to Mr. Butler that she had been sent to Rushville by her husband, her folks residing in that city. He bought her a ticket and gave her a quarter and two dimes.

"She told the sheriff that when she arrived at Rushville she found that her folks had gone to Acton to attend camp meeting. This remark showed the condition of the woman's mind, as there has been no camp meeting held there for the past two or three years.

"Her husband was telephoned for and he came next morning with a rig. When he saw his wife he greeted her very coolly, putting her in the buggy and driving away with her.

"Sheriff Butler had quite a conversation with Mr. Titus, and Titus intimated that he did not want to live with his wife any more on account of her condition and that he might file a complaint for divorce. He was then told by the sheriff that he was putting himself in a rather dangerous position; that the charge of wife desertion might be brought against him for the manner in which he was acting in this manner. When asked why he did not come after the woman last night when he was notified he said that it was raining and he could not secure a rig."

HICCOUGHING FOR OVER ELEVEN DAYS

May Result in the Death of a Prominent Carthage Citizen.

Isaac Hill began hiccoughing a week ago Wednesday, says the Carthage Citizen, and with the exception of a few minutes, kept it up constantly until midnight last Tuesday when he stopped. The trouble began again at seven o'clock Thursday morning and he has not yet overcome the hiccoughs. "Uncle" Isaac was attacked after doing an unusual amount of work on his lawn. At his advanced age the ailment may prove serious.

GAVE A VERY FRANK ANSWER

Postmaster McFarlan has received blanks to be filled out by the local force, and which will be used in a general census, that is being compiled. The census will include rural carriers, city carriers, clerks, etc., and when completed will consist of over one million names. The compilation will be known as "The Blue Book."

Some amusing replies are received by the government officials who are collecting data for the new official register. One of the queries propounded to office-holders is "What are your marital relations?" The answer should be either "married," "single" or "widowed."

An officer who is charged with the task of sending out these questions received two notable replies recently. The first reply was "My marital relations are very unsatisfactory." Another toiler in one of the departments of Uncle Sam filled out his blank as follows:

"Question: What are your marital relations?"

"Answer: They are hell."

LITTLE TOT WAS BADLY SCALDED

Pot of Boiling Tea Upset Over Head of Two-year-old Child.

Little Norma Green, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Green, of Gowdy, met with a painful and sad accident yesterday evening which will probably leave a mark on the child, the remainder of her life.

The little tot was playing about on the floor in the dining room and the mother had just placed a large pot of tea on the table to brew, when the child reached up and taking hold of the table cloth, brought the pot of scalding tea down upon her, burning one side of her face and her shoulder. Dr. Hoagland, of Milroy was called and attended the child who was suffering excruciating pain. He was not able to state positively whether or not the scalding will leave scars on the child, but was of the opinion that it would.

PICTURE GALLERY IN COURT HOUSE

Picture of Originator of the Plan is Placed on the Wall Today.

Jabez Smith, the originator of the picture gallery in the sheriff's office of the Rush county court house, had the honor today of placing his photograph on the wall with the pictures of the famous statesmen and soldiers of our country. For several years Mr. Smith has been making a collection of pictures and has been framing them at his own expense, in order that all of the famous men of this country might be represented in the so-called "picture gallery."

Mr. Smith is the originator of the plan, and has collected twenty-six portraits which now adorn the walls of the sheriff's office. The plan is one which will be carried out in future years, and the set of pictures will be one of the most complete in the State in a short time. Visitors in the court house have often congratulated Mr. Smith on his patriotism and he was recently requested to place an enlarged photograph of himself in the collection.

Mr. Smith's picture is a splendid likeness and many comments were made on it by visitors to the court house this afternoon. There is probably no other man in the county who possesses such patriotism and love for our country as Mr. Smith, who is himself a soldier who toiled in the Civil war for the nation's good.

HOLY IS KISS OF MAN TO MAN

One of the Customs of Church of God, Now Holding Meeting Here

TEN DAYS IN CITY PARK

They Believe in Healing by Prayer and Faith—A Devout People.

If you saw two men meet and greet each other with a kiss on the streets of Rushville, you would ask what manner of men and what custom is this. Upon further inquiry you would learn that it was the religious custom of a people who are now holding meetings of worship in a tent in the north end of the city park on Eleventh street in this city.

The males greet the males with a kiss and the females greet the females in the same manner. It is also the custom to indulge in this same act when parting. The kiss is called "the holy or sacred kiss," but it must be done according to the Scriptures which says: "Let all things be done in decency and in order."

The meetings are being conducted each night by Elder G. R. Achor, of Marion, Ind., assisted by Mrs. Fannie Davis, of Oklahoma, and Elder John Rapp, of Indianapolis. There are several families in Rushville, who belong to this denomination—although they do not like to be called a denomination, sect or organization, and they are apparently very devout people.

They have no name for their church, as they declare there must not be anything human added to the church established by Christ, and they please to call themselves the "Church of God," and cite several scriptural quotations to support the theory that it cannot be called anything else. They declare that the many creeds, social organizations in connection with church work, and different denominations and names attached to groups of professed Christians, is contrary to the Word of God, and in some instances, sacrilegious. Their only church law is the new Testament and they call each other "saints."

They claim that their church was the result of a prophecy way back in the old Testament when it was said that after a certain number of days "the sanctuary (church) was to be cleaned." At the appointed time, which was about 1880, there arose four or five men throughout the world, simultaneously, who came to the correct spiritual understanding, and declared for a church that would be free from all things material and of human origin. Among those who had the spiritual understanding, unbeknownst to the others, were D. S. Warner, of Indianapolis; W. N. Kilpatrick, of Ohio; Mother Smith, of Illinois, a native in far off India. They claim that they live alone by the new Testament and are the only Christian denomination that live according to the customs of the Apostolic age.

To call a minister "Reverend" they declare is sacrilegious, and they base this contention on the scriptural verse, "Thou, alone, O Lord, art reverend." They carry out all the commands of the New Testament; have the Lord's supper, washing of feet, baptism by immersion, anointing with oil, etc., etc.

They believe and teach mental healing, but differ with the Christian Scientists in one respect; they believe that sickness and sin really exist, but can be eliminated by faith, prayer and anointing of oil. "Many are the afflictions of the righteous, but the Lord delivered them from them all," is one of their Bible citations to bear out their position on this question. Then again there is the charge in the new testament, "If any man be sick among you, let them call in the elders of the church; and let them pray over them, anointing them with oil in the name of the Lord; and the prayer and faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall rise him up." * * * "In My name shall they cast out devils; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick and they shall recover."

The members of the church are very enthusiastic and a pious and devout people. Everybody is welcome to attend their meetings.

Additional Locals

The will of the late Jacob Fritz was entered on probate record today.

In the want column of the Daily Republican appeared this week the following ad: "Found: A black ladies pocketbook, etc., etc." which should have read: "Found: A ladies black pocketbook, etc., etc." Just a slight error of the "typo," but it changed the sense of the ad.

County Commissioner Charlie Lyons, of Mays, cleaned up a pot of money at the Indianapolis stock yards last week. He sold ten head of steers, averaging 1000 pounds that brought $7.10, the highest price thus far this year. These prize money makers went to New York City.

Dr. J. C. Sexton and wife, Miss Frances Sexton, Will McColgin, Earl Churchill and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Will Bliss will leave this city August 8th for an automobile tour in Kentucky. The party will visit Mammoth Cave, High Bridge and other points of interest.

The hotel keepers, restaurant people, soda water people, moving picture places, livery barns, cigar stores, and kindred business lines are expecting a big day Saturday as the Hagenbeck and Wallace circus is likely to attract a record breaking crowd of people. The merchants are likewise preparing for a big day and extra clerks are at a premium.

A traveling amn who arrived in this city from Shelbyville today stated that three shows are billed to appear there within the next thirty days. The Wallace, John Robinson, and Forepaugh shows are the companies which will show in that city within a short time, and bill boards in Shelbyville are at a premium. The traveling man stated that Shelbyville had the appearance of the back end of a newspaper office, where the devil has spent all his spare time in fastening up clippings from the daily press.

COMRAD WRITES ABOUT ABERNATHY

W. A. Bodine of Morristown Enlisted With Lieutenant, Who Was Killed.

W. A. Bodine, of Morristown, writes the following regarding Lieut. Abernathy, whose sword was recently found on the battlefields of the Southland:

Lt. Isaac Abernathy was a member of Company I, 37th Reg. Indiana Vols., and was killed on Dec. 31st, 1863, in the first day's fight at Stone River, near Murfreesboro, Tenn. We volunteered at the same time at Osborn's school house in Jackson township, Rush county, Indiana, in August, 1861. He lived near the Knightstown springs and I think was a cousin to Logan and John Abernathy, now of Leavenworth, Kansas.

OUR JONAH STORY

Connorsville News Says it Must be Settled at Once.

Rushville is deep in the discussion of the greatest of all fish stories—that of Jonah and the whale, says the Connorsville News. The question as to whether Jonah swallowed the whale or the whale swallowed Jonah must be settled before Home Coming day if possible. One of the ministers is taking a leading part in the discussion.

THOUSANDS ARE COMING AUG. 7

"To Eat, or Not to Eat" is the Question — Provision Must be Made

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

For Church Societies and Lodges to Make a Neat Sum With Lunch Stands.

There is to be a big question solved between now and Home Coming Day, August 7th, if the people who will be within our gates receive the proper treatment. It is the question of feeding the multitude. Conservative people are estimating that the crowd will exceed 20,000—granted that we are favored with good weather. From one-third to one-fourth of the entire population of the county will be here. Indianapolis will send from five hundred to one thousand The Madison county special will carry close to one thousand people, as Madison county promises to send over five hundred. And nearly every family in this city in preparing to entertain from one to ten guests—friends and relatives from all over the country.

When the Catholic church corner stone was laid several years ago, about three thousand people from out of the city were here, and many were unable to secure anything to eat. Every cracker and stale piece of bread in the bakeries and restaurants were eagerly snapped up by the hungry visitors.

Now what are we going to do with twenty thousand people?

Why prepare for them of course. It will be a golden opportunity for the various Ladies Aid Societies and church organizations to conduct coffee and sandwich stands, for they can make more money on this occasion than they could with 78 Saturday exchanges. Any lodge, society or organization in need of funds for sending missionaries to the foreign shores to buying gun powder for a political rally, can and ought to avail themselves of this opportunity to make a nice sum of money.

It can be made easily and comfortably and at the same time you will be carrying on a two-fold blessed work, for there will be many hungry wayfarers here on that day. This paper will gladly assist any organization in securing and advertising the location of their place of business, and in announcing any call meeting to be held for the purpose of making arrangements. Church societies in the smaller towns of Rush county ought to come with their good, wholesome cooking on this occasion.

What about it? Let us hear from you.

LIVERY STABLES
ARE KEPT BUSY

Cannot Supply Demands of the Trade—Many Picnics Cause the Famine.

There is a famine of livery rigs in Rushville. For the past week every rig has been rented from the local livery stables and scores of people have been told that "everything is out." Various causes have been assigned to the increase in this line of business.

This is the season of picnics and rigs rented for this purpose have been a great addition to the trade. The large number of funerals throughout the county have also caused numerous calls for livery rigs, and the bill posters with the circus coming Saturday have been using two and three teams each day in "making" the smaller towns near this city.

SQUIRE SMOKES
CIGARETTES AT 98

An old man, who is very inquisitive and solicitous about everyone's welfare—well meaning, of course—took occasion to stop and talk to a young man of his acquaintance this week, whom he saw was smoking a cigarette. "Young man," began the old gentleman, "don't you know that those infernal cigarettes are deadly poison and will eventually kill you?"

"Oh, I don't think so," said the young fellow.

"Yes, they will," continued the aged fellow, "statistics will bear me out. Last year there were over—" "Now look here," said the young man cutting off the flow of figures, "there is old Squire Poe, who is ninety-eight years of age and he has smoked cigarettes all his life."

Of course, this assertion was untrue, but in an argument many such prevarications are brought into service. The last remark of the young man "stumped" the old fellow for a few seconds, and turning to the cigarette smoker asked:

"How old is Squire Poe?"

Ninety-eight years old, I said, and he has been smoking cigarettes all his life."

"Well," said the old fellow, "if he keeps it up, they will get him yet."

CURFEW ORDINANCE
IS TO BE ENFORCED

Local Police Say That Small Boys Must Stay Home at Night.

That Rushville has a curfew ordinance is a thing long ago forgotten by the small boys of this city and as a result the streets are filled at night with children who should be at home and in bed. It is a well known fact that the future moral uprightness of a city depend upon the behavior of its future citizens, and, if a great number of the boys and girls of this city are to be raised in the streets the future morality of Rushville is walking on dangerous ground.

It is generally conceded that the best place for a young boy and girl, after eight o'clock at night, is in their own homes. Hence every city of any size in the State has a curfew ordinance, or if they do not they should have. The local police are determined to enforce the ordinance in the future, and do not be surprised if your small boy jumps over the back fence tonight and arrives in the house with a "cop" hard on his trail, for the police say that they are going to clear the streets after eight o'clock of "youngsters."

THOMAS MAY COME OUT FOR SENATOR

According to News Report in the Indianapolis Star This Morning.

It is said on good authority, says the Indianapolis Star today, that Ernest B. Thomas, of Rushville, will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for joint senator from the district composed of Rush, Hancock and Fayette counties. The place is now held by Senator E. E. Moore, of Connorsville.

Thomas is a former recorder of Rush county, and has served as vice chairman of the Republican county committee. Senator Moore, is yet to be heard from in regard to seeking a renomination. It is generally admitted that in the event that he and Thomas should lock horns the people of the senatorial district would witness a lively contest.

—Will Conner, of Shelbyville, transacted business in this city today.

—Miss Lola Wright, of Indianapolis, was the guest of friends in this city today.

DELL RANDALL
FAMOUS ARTIST

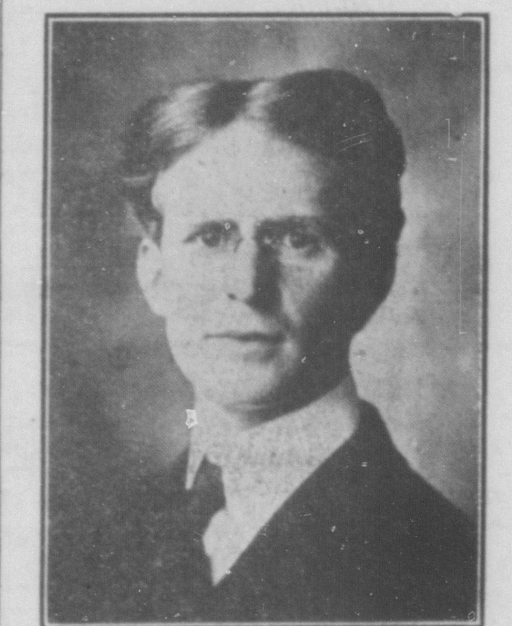

Former Rush County Man Acquires Fame in the Field of Art.

WAS EDUCATED IN CHICAGO

Where He Afterwards Took First Prize on Oil Painting Work—Secured for Chautauqua

D. E. Randall, the young Rush county artist, is becoming famous in his chosen work. At the present time, he is head of the St. Paul School of Fine Arts, which is a coveted position. Two years ago, he became of national importance in the field of art by winning first prize in an exhibit of oil paintings in Chicago.

Mr. Randall is a Rush county boy and acquired the celebrity which he now holds with great difficulty. An orphan boy without money, have been the conditions under which he had to work in youth, but his talent attracted the attention of several men, who aided Mr. Randall in getting his education. He received his common school education at the Soldiers and Sailors Orphans' Home in the northern part of this county.

Mr. Randall is appearing on Chautauqua platforms this season, and will appear on the local program on Rush county day. His "Chalk Talks" are very interesting, and in this line of work he is gaining a wide reputation.

BLACK JEW WILL MARRY IN THE U.S.

And Return to Abyssinia With an American Woman for a Wife.

A fair sized audience was in attendance at St. Paul's M. E. church last night to hear Rev. C. F. Checlzli, the Abyssinian lecturer on his people and their customs.

The ex-Coptic priest is in this country as special envoy of the King to study conditions here. King Menelik whom he represents is the reputed direct descendant of King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, and is the ruler of a most interesting country. They claim to be the oldest possessors of the Bible, and to be the earliest Christians; they also lay claim and take great pride in an ancient civilization, around which they have built a wall of opposition against foreign invasion of what we consider modern and progressive ideas. They bitterly resent any attempt to introduce so-called modern civilization these and are content to live in their own way, which is by no means a barbaric state.

Rev. Checlzli says he intends to marry an American woman and take her back to his native country next April.

RUSHVILLE, INDIANA, AUGUST 2, 1907.

A great many of the vigorous young men who are needed in the Indiana harvest fields follow the harvest through the southwest, and northwest as far as the fields of Manitoba, and return in the fall, laden with the season's riches, to take their ease until the next crop calls them away.

The secretary of the local board of health threatened to cause the arrest of those who have failed to cut their weeds as required by law. The weeds have now attained great height and are ready to throw their pollen and seeds broadcast with the breeze. Besides, it is a well-accepted theory that weeds, in their ripeness, cause a number of serious diseases. Beyond that, they are unsightly and do not belong in a city making any claim to beauty.

Colonel George Harvey, of Harper's Weekly is having a brain storm. He thinks the liberties of the people are threatened by the President's mental ubiquity, the constitution overridden, States wiped out, and paternalistic tyranny enthroned where popular freedom once reigned. When a man gets notions of this kind into his head it is natural that he should get madly excited and spend his time seeking for some Democrat who can "save the country." If the Harper's Weekly of today were the Harper's Weekly of the past there might be persons who would be impressed by its strange utterances. As the case stands, it is doubtful whether anybody will take them seriously—not even the Democratic statesmen whom it speaks of as presidential possibilities. Everybody will be amused except Mr. Bryan, who is left out of the category of possibilities. He will not look on Harper's Weekly as a comic periodical, but that is what it has been for several weeks.

A news item in the Republican stated that the Pennsylvania railroad company had issued an order against kissing in its railroad stations, that "the exact reason for this step is not known." The reason is known. The Pennsylvania company in its long railroad career, has found that these affectionate leave-takings, among the women particularly, consume time, and many times delay the starting of the train. Some years ago, when a bevy of girls appeared on the Big Four platform here to see a girl off on the Lake Erie road, the conductor set the girls to kissing by yelling "all aboard" fifteen minutes before train time so that the girls would have ample time to get through with their goodbyes and allow the train to start on time. Women, as a rule, do not realize that "business is business," and that a railroad train must start on time.

SECRETARY TO FAIRBANKS

George B. Lockwood May Hold This Position Permanently.

Indianapolis, Aug. 2.—An announcement from Washington today that Colonel George B. Lockwood, publisher of the Marion Chronicle, has been appointed private secretary to Vice-President Fairbanks, was partially confirmed by him. "I am temporarily acting as the vice-president's private secretary," said Colonel Lockwood, "but I have not permanently accepted the position. I am not disposed to accept any appointment that will take me away from my home interests." Colonel Lockwood is one of the well-known figures in Indiana politics although he is but thirty-five years old. He was private secretary to Major Steele of Marion for several years while the latter represented the Eleventh district in congress. He is an author and writer of much ability, and his appointment is said to be a source of much satisfaction to the vice-president's lieutenants.

The railroad commission has issued a warning to shippers who overload the cars assigned to them. One shipper in southern Indiana, whose name was not disclosed at the commission's office, complained because a railroad company made demurrage charges because he had overloaded a car. The commission replied that no shipper should load a car in excess of the capacity printed on the sides. The commission said that it is the duty of the shipper not to trespass on the regulations of the railroads as to the amount of freight each car may carry. The commission warned the shipper that the overloading of the cars is not only unfair, but it endangers the lives of trainmen and increases the liability of wrecks. The action of the railroad in making the extra demurrage charges was sustained.

The state board of charities has just made public a bulletin showing the cost of maintenance of the various state institutions during the past six months. The total was $899,249.31, which was $42,684.64 more than for the first six months of last year. The increased cost in maintaining the institutions was due largely to an increase in the enrollment. Seven institutions showed an increased attendance. The per capita cost of maintaining the inmates of the southern hospital at Evansville was $94.60 for the 660 inmates. The average per capita cost at the central hospital here was $97.97; for the eastern hospital at Richmond, $91.30; for the northern hospital at Logansport, $79.75. The per capita cost for maintaining the inmates of the school for the blind here was $188.50. The deaf and dumb inmates cost the state $141.52 each.

U. B. Hunt, chairman of the state railroad commission, states that there is no friction between the members of the commission and Attorney-General Pugh over the question of whether or not the two-cent fare law applies to interurbans as well as steam roads. He said that the attorney-general still maintains that the law does not apply to interurbans but he is willing that it shall be left to the courts to decide. Mr. Hunt also declared that there is no ground for the statement that the interurbans are in many instances charging over two cents a mile. The commission and the attorney-general will ask the courts to decide whether or not the interurbans are affected by the two-cent fare law.

Knife Thrust Proves Fatal. Richmond, Ind., Aug. 2.—Owen Brock, twenty-three years old, died at his home near Eaton, O., east of this city, as the result of knife wounds inflicted by his uncle, Perry Brock Sunday last. The Brocks, with several companions, were camping on Twin creek, and became involved in a quarrel. The elder Brock is said to have attempted to stab a member of the party, and his nephew received a mortal wound while trying to separate the combatants.

Chigres Spoiling the Berry Harvest Jeffersonville, Ind., Aug. 2.—Sheriff Pernet, who has just returned from a visit to his home in Bethlehem township, in the eastern part of the county, reports that the scarcity of blackberries in this city is due almost entirely to the multitude of chigres in the blackberry patches, the task of picking berries proving too painful even for the most hardened persons. The sheriff reached this conclusion by personal experiments.

Oklahoma Republicans. Tulsa, I. T., Aug. 2.—The Republican convention of the new state of Oklahoma made the following nominations: Governor, Frank Frantz; lieutenant-governor, N. J. Turk; secretary of state, T. N. Robinson; attorney-general, S. P. Reid; state treasurer, M. Stillwell. Mr. Frantz is the present governor of Oklahoma territory. He was a rough rider captain at the San Juan hill fight in Cuba and is an intimate friend of President Roosevelt.

Duplicating Text of Twenty Years Ago Franklin, Ind., Aug. 2.—There will be a basket dinner at the Nineveh Christian church Sunday next, marking the twentieth anniversary of the entry into the ministry of the Rev. Lee Tinsley who preached his first sermon Aug. 4, 1887, taking for his text, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path." The same text will be selected for Sunday next.

TO LIST PROPERTY

Tax Board Wants All Standard Oil Ownings on Duplicate.

MUCH PROPERTY UNLISTED

They Propose to Locate and Put on Tax Duplicates All They Can Find.

It Is Believed the Standard's Assessment Should Be Heavily Increased.

Indianapolis, Aug. 2.—The state board of tax commissioners propose to locate and put on the tax duplicates all of the property of the Standard Oil company that can be located in the state. The assessor of Lake county has already begun an investigation in that county. In its investigations the board has discovered, it is declared, that much Standard Oil property has not been listed for taxation in several counties, and it is the opinion of members of the board that this will prove true in every county in the state of Indiana. Thus far the assessment on Standard Oil property has been increased $652,743 and it is probable, it is said, that the state board will make the increase much larger after it has completed its investigation as to sequestered property.

CHILD'S PLAYFUL ACT

Causes His Father to Swallow Dangerous Solution.

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 2.—The playful blow of his six-year-old child, while he was in the act of gargling a solution of turpentine water, is likely to cause the death of John Holden, twenty-seven years old.

Holden, who has an affliction of the throat, was endeavoring to relieve his discomfort by gargling turpentine, when his young son, trying to play with him as usual, gave him a smart blow on the throat, which caused the man to swallow the solution.

The lining of the stomach was terribly burned, leading to the fear of an attack of peritonitis, and the lining of the windpipe is also burned. Hidden has been unconscious the greater part of the time since the accident, and is unable to partake of food. Physicians say that unless there is a speedy improvement in his condition death will soon result.

Four Men Arrested.

Columbus, Ind., Aug. 2.—The arrest of David Fox, Charles Sylvester, Lovell Bowers and Jacob Kirk of Monroe county, on charges of complicity in the Vanest whitecapping, has stirred up a portion of Monroe county. The Bloomington papers have come to the defense of the four men and insist that they are innocent. They speak of the prominence of the men and state specially that Fox is one of the most prominent men in his part of the county. The statement was made some time ago that Vanest only recognized seven or eight men in the crowd which took him from his home and whipped him. He now says that this story is incorrect and that he is positive of eight men, while he thinks there were ten or more in the crowd. Eleven men are now under bond on the whitecapping charge.

Against Liquor Traffic.

Monon, Ind., Aug. 2.—A remonstrance signed by a majority of sixty-two of the legal voters of Monon township, this county, against the retail liquor traffic in the township, was filed with the county commissioners last May. Meanwhile George Helfric has served notice that he will apply on Monday next for a license, and the temperance people are preparing to enforce the remonstrance against him. The remonstrants are backed by legal counsel and sufficient funds and are confident of winning.

An Elusive Fugitive.

Martinsville, Ind., Aug. 2.—Two attempts have been made to capture Fred Baugh, an escaped prisoner from the Indiana Reformatory, who is said to be lurking at his home in the edge of Monroe county. The first time he had warning, in some way, of the coming of the officers, and was not at home, and the second time he jumped from a window and outran his pursuers. Baugh was sent to the reformatory for attempting to defraud a bank at Frankfort.

Breaks Through Bridge.

Portland, Ind., Aug. 2.—While a west-bound freight train on the Lake Erie & Western railway was crossing a forty-two-foot bridge near Ft. Recovery, the crew discovered the bridge on fire, and a hasty stop was made. The sudden stoppage caused the weakened structure to give way, and a heavily loaded coal car was thrown into the cut. The bridge was destroyed, despite efforts to extinguish the blaze, compelling a transfer of passengers at that point till a new structure spans the creek.

Water Moccasin Got Him.

Petersburg, Ind., Aug. 2.—Silas Strain, while plowing for wheat, was bitten by a large water moccasin snake, and he was carried to his home in an unconscious condition. He may recover.

Comptroller's Statement. Washington, Aug. 2.—The monthly circulation statement, issued by the comptroller of the currency, shows that at the close of business, July 31, 1907, the total circulation of national bank-notes was $603,395,886, which was an increase for the year of $41,914,941, and a decrease for the month of $392,804. This is the first time in nearly four years that a monthly statement has shown a decrease in the circulation outstanding.

A Gruesome Find.

Oklahoma, O. T., Aug. 2.—The body of a young man with both ears severed from his head was found three miles west of this city last night. The finding of a freshly severed ear on the principal street of this city led to the discovery of the body. This is the second crime of this sort within a week. The body of an unknown man with both ears severed was found in a boxcar last Saturday.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Heap of Happiness it Would Bring to Rushville Homes.

Har I to do housework with an aching back.

Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that Backache pains come from sick kidneys.

'Twould save much needless woe.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys. Rushville people endorse this:

Mrs. M. T. Lewark, 1633 N. Perkins street, Rushville says:

I had not been feeling very well for sometime. I found that my kidneys were out of order as the secretions were not normal and caused both irritation and embarrassment. I was compelled to rise frequently at night, and was tired mornings and felt depressed and worn out during the day. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills being good for such troubles, deciding to try them got a box at F. B. Johnson & Company's drug store. They have done me much good and have banished the kidney trouble. I shall influence my husband to take them for a lame back from which he is suffering. I feel very grateful for what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me.

To contradict certain talk and to put the consuming public in possession of the truth, we say in plain words that no one in this town can sell as good coffee as Arbuckles' Ariosa for as little money.

Misbranded and make-believe Mocha and Java, or coffee sold loose out of a bag or a bin, is not as good value for the money, nor can it be sold at as narrow profit, nor reach the consumer under as favorable conditions.

When you buy Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee you get more than 16 net ozs. of straight, wholesome Brazilian coffee from the largest coffee firm in the world, with that firm's direct assurance that they are giving you the best coffee in the world for the money.

W. B. REDUSO for LARGE WOMEN

Restrains tendency to overfleshiness, and moulds the over-developed proportions into graceful outlines hitherto thought to be attainable only by slighter figures.

This splendid result is attained by an unboned apron extension which reaches down over the abdomen and hips, giving the wearer absolute freedom of movement.

This feature absolutely eliminates the necessity of any harness-like devices and straps, hitherto deemed essential on corsets of this kind.

Reduso Style 750—For tall stout women, which is illustrated here, is built as per description, with medium high bust. Made of durable coutil, in white or drab. Hose supporters front and sides. Sizes 24 to 36. Price, $3.00.

Reduso Style 760—For short stout women, is the same as style 750 except that the bust is somewhat lower all around. Made of white and drab coutil. Hose supporters front and sides. Sizes 24 to 36. Price, $3.00.

"OUT THEY GO"

Farm lands in North Dakota will grow in value in the next three years as much as did farm lands in the Central States during the past twenty years. As the people move in land values increase. Thousands of acres in North Dakota last year, thousands are coming this year, thousands will come next year. The quicker you move the more land you will get. A little money now buys a big farm. We are selling good, rich land so cheap that one or two crops will pay for it. Good farming lands at low prices increase faster in value than high-priced lands. Only $15 an acre now. Easy terms. We will furnish stock on share. We own 100,000 acres, from which you can choose a good farm. Stop renting; farm your own land. Write us and we will keep you posted on this glorious land of opportunities—the land of sun-bine, big crops and free land—the greatest grain producing, dairying and live stock raising State in the Union; maps, farm notes, complete information, yours for the asking. Low fare. If you can, come right out—don't wait to write; you won't regret it. Hiring a homemaker with you.

The Lincoln Farm Association.

A STATEMENT OF ITS WORK AND PURPOSE

BY

Richard Lloyd Jones, Secretary of the Association.

The Lincoln Farm Association was organized and incorporated under the laws of the State of New York early in the month of February, 1906, by a group of patriotic citizens, who believed that the people of our country should, through affiliating with the organization, develop the farm in large county, Kentucky, on which Abraham Lincoln was born, into a national park.

The association, prior to its incorporation, acquired the title of this historic farm, consisting of one hundred and ten acres. The association hopes to develop this property into an attractive park, embellished by historical museums and properly monumented, so that it may be complete for dedication on the 12th day of February, 1909, which will be the centennial of the birth of the great war President. The association has already recovered the cabin in which Lincoln was born, which was taken from the property some years ago by a speculative showman, who put it on exhibition at several of the prominent fairs throughout the country.

Log Cabin in which Lincoln was born.

The Lincoln Farm Association believe that the work of building this farm into a national memorial should be accomplished by the American people, and by their individual contributions, and not through an appropriation from Congress, or through the subsidy of large private fortunes. It should express the democratic sympathy and loyalty of the American people for and to this great President, ever express our national unity rather than preserve the memory of our lamentable differences. It will continue to be a birthplace of citizenship and patriotism.

It is the sole purpose of the association to help the American people to their own; to co-operate with them in making of this Kentucky farm a worthy companion of Mount Vernon in the affection of the American people and the admiration of the world. It is the purpose of the association to co-operate with the lovers of Lincoln, old and young, and as need be help rather than dictate or direct their patriotic generosity.

The historic ground will be owned and cared for by the Lincoln Farm Association's self-perpetuating committee of patriotic citizens. To them will be entrusted the expenditure of the subsidy which the members of the Lincoln Farm Association shall raise. Lying, as this farm does, almost at the center of our population, it will ever be the most accessible, and in many ways will be the most attractive, of all our historic parks. It will be the most significant and the most useful as a common ground, typifying the large industrial development growing out of the political harmony of eighty millions of people—a great national school of peace, civic righteousness, and unity, a museum of national loyalty, where all animosity will forever be buried, and where North and South will find a common ground of pride.

The office of the Association is at 74 Broadway, New York.

A bird's eye view of the Lincoln Birthplace Farm as it will look when developed by the Lincoln Farm Association.

who has so fittingly been called the "first American."

The Lincoln Farm Association is an organization of American citizens to which every one shall be entitled to membership who contributes, through the general fund for the preservation of this historic spot, any sum not less than twenty-five cents, nor to exceed twenty-five dollars. Every such subscriber shall be recorded in the membership card catalogue, which will ultimately rest in a place of honor and of public access in one of the historic buildings to be erected on the farm. Each subscriber shall receive, immediately upon the receipt of his donation to the work of the association, a handsomely engraved certificate of membership in the Lincoln Farm Association.

A DELICIOUS DISH
FROM THE SOUTH

Cream of Corn is a Favorite
Hot Weather Soup in New Orleans.

This soup is so unique in flavor and so easy to prepare that it is a mystery why the North has not appropriated it long ago, says the August DELINEATOR. In making it the corn is scraped from the cob, after which the cobs themselves are put into four quarts of boiling water and left until the water has been reduced to about three quarts. They are then removed and the corn is substituted. This cooks for about half an hour, or longer if it is not soft enough to be pressed through a sieve. After being strained, it is seasoned liberally with salt and pepper. Three tablespoons of butter that have already been rubbed into two tablespoons of flour follow, and when the soup begins to thicken, with almost constant stirring, a pint of boiling milk or cream is added. When cooked a few minutes longer it is removed from the fire and the beaten yolks of two eggs give the finishing touch to a delicious soup.

A NEW YORK FIEND

Brutal Murders of Similar Character Seem to Be by Same Hand.

THREE SHOCKING CRIMES

New York Police Have Added Work
In Seeking Murderer of Little Girl.

Her Mutilated Body Was Found
In a Basement Near Her Home.

New York, Aug. 2.—The "graveyard" as the foreign-populated neighborhood on First avenue, between Thirtieth and Fourteenth streets, is known locally, gave up yesterday a fresh crime rivaling in atrocity the mysterious butcheries of last week. The latest discovered victim was an eight-year-old girl and, like the two young women murdered, she had been shockingly mistreated before death, and the body mutilated when life was extinct.

The three murders are strikingly similar. Last Thursday night a woman was strangled in a boarding house; the next morning the body of a still unidentified woman who had been choked to death was found in an arway. Katie Pritschler, daughter of a restaurant waiter, disappeared a week ago and was killed that night. A ribbon placed about the throat and drawn so tightly that it cut the flesh showed how she died.

If the brutality of the murders can be qualified, that of the Pritschler girl ranks first. She was assaulted, murdered and then her lifeless form was horribly mutilated. Carl Pritschler, the father of Katie, is a hard-working, respectable citizen. He has several other children, all younger than Katie. The girl left home last Thursday night to play in the street. When she failed to return the father notified the police and a general alarm was sent out. The body was discovered within a block of her home and scarcely a hundred yards from the location of a placard placed by the father calling attention to the fact that his child was lost. How the body could have remained undiscovered for a week is not explained. The girl's body was stumbled upon by a woman who visited the basement of the house at 203 First avenue. It lay upon a berry crate with seemingly no effort at concealment.

"You can say for me," Coroner Harburger declared, "that the crimes in Berlin, of which the newspapers have told, have not been one-thousandth part as bad as the murder of this little girl." The coroner would not permit the body to be photographed.

At the coroner's direction, Gaetano Rippolano, whose cobbler shop adjoins the girl's home, was arrested and asked to explain his absence from his shop on last Friday. He established the fact that he had spent the day at Bristol, Conn. The girl is said to have frequented Rippolano's place and a search of the shop brought to light a man's shirt which bore red stains. The cobbler was arraigned and remanded to the coroner.

When news of the finding of the little one's body spread through the neighborhood excitement rose to such a pitch that the removal of the body and the arrest of Rippolano caused almost a riot. Shop windows were smashed and only the determined front of the police reserves, who clubbed right and left, prevented greater damage.

John Kusmiche, the Russian watchman under arrest as a suspicious person, and who is said to have been seen in the company of the girl whose body was found in the arway on East Ninetieth street, was remanded without bail.

MOROCCAN SITUATION

Diplomats and Governments Have Eyes on Casablanca.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—The disturbances in Morocco are being watched here with the closest attention. Lengthy dispatches are published describing the situation. There are few editorial comments, however, although the hope is expressed the Algeiras convention will be successfully carried out. It is stated that Italy would send a warship as well as Spain to Morocco and that a composite force of French, Italian and Spanish troops would be landed at Casablanca to restore order in co-operation with the sultan's forces. All the signatories of the Algeiras convention will be informed as to the steps which it is deemed necessary to take to exact satisfaction.

The Spanish government is drawing up a plan for concerted action with France to obtain reparation for the murders in Casablanca. As a first step a Spanish war ship has been ordered to proceed immediately to Morocco.

Engineer Killed.

Arkansas City, Kan., Aug. 2.—A northbound Santa Fe passenger train left the track seven miles from Red Rock, Okla., killing the engineer and wounding numerous passengers. A coach, baggage car and baggage car, as well as the engine, went in the ditch. The engineer was killed.

STATE FAIR PROGRAM

Some of Chief Events of the Big Exposition at Indianapolis
In September.

DEDICATION OF NEW PAVILION

The $110,000 Structure Will Be Opened
With Elaborate Ceremonies—Band
Concerts, Livestock Parades, Vaudeville—Racing Purses Amount to $24,600—Products of the Hoosier Soil.

The fifty-fourth Indiana Fair, one of the oldest state expositions in the Union, will open at Indianapolis on Monday, September 9, and will continue through five full days. Exhibitors have been notified that the entry lists in all departments will close on August 28, and that exhibits must be in place early on the first morning. The first day of the Indiana fair is usually one of "get ready" and light attendance, but at the coming fair it will be one of the most important of the week, for it will mark the dedication of the livestock pavilion, which is being completed at a cost of $110,000. The ceremonies of the dedication will include an address by an eminent speaker and band concerts. The first day will have on the program practically all of the features of every other day. The vaudeville attractions, including acrobats, trapeze performers and bicyclists, will be given before the grandstand, and the races will begin at 1 p. m. Monday will be children's day, when they and their teachers will be admitted free. The "grand opening" of the livestock pavilion will be held on Monday night, when the big building will be illuminated, and an extensive program will be given.

The judges are to begin their work of tying on ribbons in all departments of the fair on Tuesday morning, and exhibitors who are not ready for the contests will be shut out. At 9 o'clock the new pavilion will be placed in practical use for the first time, as in its large arena will appear the draft horses and mules, where they will receive their ribbons. The judges will also make awards in the dairy cattle, Berkshire and Poland China hogs, fine wool sheep, and poultry. On this day, as well as others of fair week, Weber's band, of Cincinnati, will give concerts near the art building and at the grandstand, and the vaudeville features will be repeated. Tuesday will be old soldiers' day, when the veterans will be admitted free.

Some big events of the fair will begin to develop on Wednesday, and the exposition management expects all of them to be on a much larger scale than in any former year. The coach, hackney, saddle-horses and ponies will contest for prizes in the pavilion. The cattle shows in the beef classes will begin. There will be extra displays of cut flowers in Horticultural hall. One of the best shows of the fair, the parade of horses and cattle, will be held at 1 o'clock. Weber's band will give a concert lasting three hours in the morning and three in the afternoon.

Thursday, always marked by the heaviest attendance of the week, will start its numerous affairs at 9 a. m. The chief horse show of the year in Indiana will begin with the light harness classes in the arena of the pavilion, and coach and carriage teams, saddle-horses and equipages will also be before the spectators and judges. The work of tying on ribbons will on Thursday be so far advanced that the contests for championships in heavy horses, cattle and other livestock may be held, and these awards will bring into the arena the best blood of the Hoosier exposition. Another parade of livestock will also be given.

On Friday, the last day, the judges will complete their work, and at the administration building the winners will receive their money. This day, too, will be marked by band concerts and vaudeville performances.

The heaviest purses ever awarded at the Indiana State Fair will be distributed at the races in September. The total amounts to $24,600, or almost twice what it has been in other years. The Western Horseman has two stake races, one on Monday for three-year-old pacers, the purse being $2,100. The other is for three-year-old trotters, to start on Thursday, the purse being $4,100. There will be a 2:30 stake trot on Monday in which the purse is $2,000; one on Tuesday for a 2:25 stake trot, purse $2,000; a stake trot on Wednesday with a purse of $2,000; a 2:11 stake pace on Friday, purse $2,000. There are thirteen other events, in which the purse for each is $800.

Entries for the coming fair have been reaching Charles Downing, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, since the exposition of a year ago. He says that never in the history of the fair have the prizes and purses been so liberal and throughout the exposition the entries have never been so heavy. He expects the horse shows to be the most pretentious ever held in Indiana. The machinery department will contain so many exhibits that it will spread over about twenty-five acres of ground. The poultry show will be larger than in other years, when nearly as many prize-seekers have been crowded into tents outside of the main poultry building as could get into it.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLow.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

The sleuth was silent for a moment. Then he said:

"There might be one way to reach the author, but it will be successful only in the event of her being willing to be known and come out into the open. Suppose you write to her in care of the publishers. They would certainly forward the letter to wherever she may be. If she does not want you to know who she is, she will ignore your letter and remain in the background. If, on the contrary, she has no fear of you and is willing to meet you, she will answer the letter."

"Ah, I never thought of that!" exclaimed Ryder. "It's a good idea. I'll write such a letter at once. It shall go tonight."

He unhooked the telephone and asked Mr. Bagley to come up. A few seconds later the secretary entered the room.

"Bagley," said Mr. Ryder, "I want you to write a letter for me to Miss Shirley Green, author of that book 'The American Octopus.' We will address it care of her publishers, Littleton & Co. Just say that if convenient I should like a personal interview with her at my office, 36 Broadway, in relation to her book, 'The American Octopus.' See that it is mailed tonight. That's all."

Mr. Bagley bowed and retired. Mr. Ryder turned to the secret service agent.

"There, that's settled. We'll see how it works. And now, sergeant, I have another job for you, and if you are faithful to my interests you will not find me unappreciative. Do you know a little place on Long Island called Massapequa?"

"Yes," grinned the detective. "I know it. They've got some fine specimens of 'skeeters' there."

Paying no attention to this jocular-ity, Mr. Ryder continued:

"Judge Rossmore is living there pending the outcome of his case in the senate. His daughter has just arrived from Europe. My son Jefferson came home on the same ship. They are a little more friendly than I care to have them. You understand. I want to know if my son visits the Rossmores, and if he does I wish to be kept informed of all that's going on. You understand?"

"Here is $500 for you."

"Perfectly, sir. You shall know everything."

Mr. Ryder took a blank check from his desk and proceeded to fill it up; then, handing it to the detective, he said:

"Here is $500 for you. Spare neither trouble nor expense."

"Thank you, sir," said the man as he pocketed the money. "Leave it to me."

"That's about all, I think. Regarding the other matter, we'll see how the letter works."

He touched a bell and rose, which was a signal to the visitor that the interview was at an end. Mr. Bagley entered.

"Sergeant Ellison is going," said Mr. Ryder. "Have him shown out and send the national committee up."

CHAPTER X.

"W HAT?" exclaimed Shirley, changing color. "You believe that John Burkett Ryder is at the bottom of this infamous accusation against father?"

It was the day following her arrival at Massapequa, and Shirley, the judge and Stott were all three sitting on the porch. Until now by common consent any mention of the impeachment proceedings had been avoided by every one. The previous afternoon and evening had been spent listening to an account of Shirley's experiences in Europe, and a smile had flitted across even the judge's careworn face as his daughter gave a humorous description of the picturesque Paris students with their long hair and peg top trousers, while Stott simply roared with laughter. Ah, it was good to laugh again after so much trouble and anxiety! But, while Shirley avoided the topic that lay nearest her heart, she was consumed with a desire to tell her father of the hope she had of enlisting the aid of John Burkett Ryder. The great financier was certainly able to do anything he chose, and had not his son Jefferson promised to win him over to their cause? So today after Mrs. Rossmore and her sister had gone down to the village to make some purchases Shirley timidly broached the matter. She asked Stott and her father to tell her everything, to hold back nothing. She wanted to hear the worst.

Stott, therefore, started to review the whole affair from the beginning, explaining how her father in his capacity as judge of the supreme court had to render decisions, several of which were adverse to the corporate interests of a number of rich men, and how since that time these powerful interests had used all their influence to get him put off the bench. He told her about the Transcontinental case and how the judge had got mysteriously tangled up in the Great Northern Mining company and of the scandalous newspaper rumors, followed by the news of the congressional inquiry. Then he told her about the panic in Wall street, the sale of the house on Madison avenue and the removal to Long Island.

"That is the situation," said Stott when he had finished. "We are waiting now to see what the senate will do. We hope for the best. It seems impossible that the senate will condemn a man whose whole life is like an open book, but unfortunately the senate is strongly Republican and the big interests are in complete control. Unless support comes from some unexpected quarter we must be prepared for anything."

Support from some unexpected quarter! Stott's closing words rang in Shirley's head. Was that not just what she had to offer? Unable to restrain herself longer and her heart beating tumultuously from suppressed emotion, she cried:

"We'll have that support! We'll have it! I've got it already! I wanted to surprise you! Father, the most powerful man in the United States will save you from being dishonored!"

The two men leaned forward in eager interest. What could the girl mean? Was she serious or merely jesting?

But Shirley was never more serious in her life. She was jubilant at the thought that she had arrived home in time to invoke the aid of this powerful ally. She repeated enthusiastically:

"We need not worry any more. He has but to say a word, and these proceedings will be instantly dropped. They would not dare act against his veto. Did you hear, father, your case is as good as won!"

"What do you mean, child? Who is this unknown friend?"

"Surely you can guess when I say the most powerful man in the United States? None other than John Burkett Ryder!"

She stopped short to watch the effect this name would have on her hearers. But to her surprise neither her father nor Stott displayed the slightest emotion or even interest. Puzzled at this cold reception, she repeated:

"Did you hear, father—John Burkett Ryder will come to your assistance. I came home on the same ship as his son, and he promised to secure his father's aid."

The judge puffed heavily at his pipe and merely shook his head, making no reply. Stott explained:

"We can't look for help from that quarter, Shirley. You don't expect a man to cut loose his own kite, do you?"

"What do you mean?" demanded Shirley, mystified.

"Simply this, that John Burkett Ryder is the very man who is responsible for all your father's misfortunes."

The girl sank back in her seat pale and motionless, as if she had received a blow. Was it possible?

"Do you really believe this, that John Ryder deliberately concocted the bribery charge with the sole purpose of ruining my father?" demanded Shirley, when she had somewhat recovered.

"There is no other solution of the mystery possible," answered Stott.

"And you, father, do you believe Ryder did this?"

"I have no longer any doubt of it," answered the judge. "I think John Ryder would see me dead before he would raise a finger to help me. His answer to my demand for my letters convinced me that he was the arch plotter."

"What letters do you refer to?" demanded Shirley.

"The letters I wrote to him in regard to my making an investment. He advised the purchase of certain stock. I wrote him two letters at the time, which letters if I had them now would go a long way to clearing me of this charge of bribery, for they plainly showed that I regarded the transaction as a bona fide investment. Since this trouble began I wrote to Ryder asking him to return me these letters so I might use them in my defense. The only reply I got was an insolent note from his secretary saying that Mr. Ryder had forgotten all about the transaction, and in any case had not the letters I referred to."

"Couldn't you compel him to return them?" asked Shirley.

"We could never get at him," interrupted Stott. "The man is guarded as carefully as the czar."

"Still," objected Shirley, "it is possible that he may have lost the letters or even never received them."

"Oh, he has them safe enough," replied Stott. "A man like Ryder keeps every scrap of paper, with the idea that it may prove useful some day. The letters are lying somewhere in his desk. Besides, after the Transcontinental decision he was heard to say that he'd have Judge Rossmore off the bench inside of a year."

"And it wasn't a vain boast—he's done it," muttered the judge.

Shirley relapsed into silence. Her brain was in a whirl. It was true, then. This merciless man of money, this ogre of monopolistic corporations, this human juggernaut had crushed her father merely because by his honesty he interfered with his shady business deals! Ah, why had she spared him in her book? She felt now that she had been too lenient, not bitter enough, not sufficiently pitiless. Such a man was entitled to no mercy.

Long after the judge and Stott had left for the city Shirley sat alone on the porch engrossed in thought, taxing her brain to find some way out of the darkness, and when presently her mother and aunt returned they found her still sitting there, silent and preoccupied. If they only had those two letters, she thought. They alone might save her father, but how could they be got at? Mr. Ryder had put them safely away, no doubt. He would not give them up. She wondered how it would be to go boldly to him and appeal to whatever sense of honor and fairness that might be lying latent within him. No, such a man would not know what the terms "honor," "fairness" meant. She pondered upon it all day, and at night when she went tired to bed it was her last thought as she dropped off to sleep.

The following morning Shirley went out for a walk. She preferred to go alone so she would not have to talk. Hers was one of those lonely, introspective natures that resent the intrusion of aimless chatter when preoccupied with serious thoughts.

Every now and then Shirley espied in the distance the figure of a man which she thought she recognized as that of Jefferson. Had he come, after all? The blood went coursing tumultuously through her veins only a moment later to leave her face a shade paler as the man came nearer, and she saw he was a stranger.

As she neared the cottage on her return home, she caught sight of the letter carrier approaching the gate. Instantly she thought of Jefferson, and she hurried to intercept the man. Perhaps he had written instead of coming.

"Miss Shirley Rossmore?" said the man eying her interrogatively.

"That's I," said Shirley.

The postman handed her a letter and passed on. Shirley glanced quickly at the superscription. No, it was not from Jefferson; she knew his handwriting too well. The envelope, moreover, bore the firm name of her publishers. She tore it open and found that it merely contained another letter which the publishers had forwarded. This was addressed to Miss Shirley Green and ran as follows:

Dear Madam—If convenient, I should like to see you at my office, 36 Broadway, in relation to your book, 'The American Octopus.' Kindly inform me as to the day and hour at which I may expect you. Yours truly,

JOHN BURKETT RYDER.

Per B.

Shirley almost shouted from sheer excitement. At first she was alarmed—the name John Burkett Ryder was such a bogey to frightened children with, she thought he might want to punish her for writing about him as she had. She hurried to the porch and sat there reading the letter over and over, and her brain began to evolve ideas. She had been wondering how she could get at Mr. Ryder, and here he was actually asking her to call on him. Evidently he had not the slightest idea of her identity, for he had been able to reach her only through her publishers, and no doubt he had exhausted every other means of discovering her address. The more she pondered over it the more she began to see in this invitation a way of helping her father. Yes, she would go and beard the lion in his den, but she would not go to his office. She would accept the invitation only on condition that the interview took place in the Ryder mansion, where undoubtedly the letters would be found. She decided to act immediately. No time was to be lost, so she procured a sheet of paper and an envelope and wrote as follows:

Mr. John Burkett Ryder:
Dear Sir—I do not call upon gentlemen at their business office. Yours, etc.,

SHIRLEY GREEN.

Chopin's "Inspiration."

Many people have heard the "Marche Funebre" of Chopin, but few are aware that it had its origin in a rather ghastly after dinner frolic. This is the story of its writing:

The painter Zeim had given a little Bohemian dinner in his studio, which was divided by hangings into three sections. In one of these was a skeleton sometimes used by Zeim for "dressing" and an old piano covered with a sheet.

During the after dinner fun Zeim and the painter Ricard crept into this section and, wrapping the old sheet like a pall around the skeleton, carried it among their comrades, where Polignac seized it and, wrapping himself with the skeleton in the sheet, sat down to play a queer dance of death at the wheezy old piano.

In the midst of it all Chopin, who was of the party, was seized with an inspiration and, seating himself at the piano, with an exclamation that brought the roisterers to their senses, extemporized then and there the famous "Marche Funebre," while his bohemian auditory applauded in frantic delight.—London Globe.

FIFTY FREE TICKETS

TO THE

JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION

WHICH INCLUDES

Eight Days Lodging Free

THE REPUBLICAN hopes to send at least fifty persons to the Jamestown Exposition free. At least a plan has been perfected whereby such will be easily accomplished by those who are not afraid to hustle a little. The Republican abandoned the idea of a contest for the reason that there are always contestants who work hard and win nothing at all. The Republican's plan is so arranged that the workers get the benefit of every particle of exertion. The plan is very simple. The Republican runs its excursions to the Exposition weekly on Tuesdays until the Exposition closes in November. The close of the Exposition is six months away. ANY PERSON WHO WILL SECURE TEN (10) NEW SUBSCRIBERS TO THE REPUBLICAN—$3.00 PER YEAR IN RUSH COUNTY, BY MAIL, $4.00 DELIVERED BY CARRIER IN RUSHVILLE—PAID ONE YEAR IN ADVANCE, WILL RECEIVE A TICKET FREE. This ticket entitles the holder to railroad fare both ways and lodging while at the Exposition—eight days—with stopover privileges galore along the route, including Richmond, Va. and Washington, D. C., including steamboat rides between Richmond and the Exposition grounds and between the Exposition grounds and Washington, D. C.—both all day rides, constituting what are among the chief pleasures of the entire trip.

But suppose you fail to secure ten subscribers. Well, under The Republican's plan you don't lose, for with every subscriber you do secure you get a credit of two dollars on your ticket.

Suppose you should go quietly to work right now. You get one NEW subscriber and bring his name and the money to The Republican office. You receive a receipt entitling you to a credit of two dollars on your ticket when you go. Then if you get one subscriber your ticket will cost you but $19.50. If you get three you go for $15.50, and so on up to ten, when you are handed a ticket for nothing. Then again, your tickets are transferable. That is to say if you earn a ticket or any part of a ticket and for any reason can not go, you are at liberty to sell your ticket or your credit on same to any other person. Suppose you should earn a whole ticket, then under the new arrangement, just perfected with the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad you could, by paying $1.50, have your fare and lodging provided and a sleeping car both ways.

To those who do not care to work for free tickets we will sell them a ticket for $21.50 (children under 12 years $11.75) which includes car fare both ways and eight days lodging at the Exposition at Tent City, which is designated in the cut by a cross.

How Trains and Boats Run.

There are two trains daily between Cincinnati and Richmond and the exposition—if one should wish to go all the way by rail. It must be remembered that these tickets are good either by rail all the way or via steamboat from Richmond to the Exposition grounds. Should you wish to leave Rushville in the evening you take the train for Cincinnati at 3:24 p. m., arriving there at 6 p. m. you then leave Cincinnati on the C. & O. at 9:30 p. m. arriving at Richmond at 4:15 p. m. Boats leave Richmond daily except Sunday at 7 a. m., arriving at the Exposition grounds at 6:30 p. m.

Should you wish to leave Rushville in the morning you would take a Big Four train at 8:13 a. m. arriving at Cincinnati at 10:55 a. m. Then you take the 12:01—noon—train on the C. & O. arriving at Richmond at 7:30 a. m.—too late for the boat the same day—but continuing on to the Exposition grounds you arrive at 10:10 a. m.

To leave Rushville in the evening is the most popular trip, for it allows more time in Richmond and gives better advantage for scenery.

Boats leave Norfolk and Old Point Comfort every day—both a day boat and a night boat—for Washington, D. C. and train with sleeper attached leaves Washington for Cincinnati on Thursday, the tenth day, at 11:10 p. m. arriving at Cincinnati at 5 p. m.

Five Days in Advance.

Arrangements have just been perfected through which patrons of The Republican's excursions will be able to secure tourist's sleeper Cincinnati to Richmond for 75c. That is to say, the rate will be $1.50 a berth, $3.00 a section, and when two persons occupy one berth this reduces the cost to each individual to 75c. The same rate applies on the return trip, the price from Washington, D. C. to Cincinnati being 75c. In order to secure space in sleeping car you must reserve same five days in advance.

You do not pay for your berth until you get on the train, although YOU MUST RESERVE SAME FIVE DAYS IN ADVANCE. These sleepers will leave Washington, D. C. on Thursdays, the tenth day, at 11:10 p. m. and reservations for the return trip may be made by simply indicating same to the conductor.

Go to work at once and get your free ticket and go any time you wish before the Exposition closes in November. For further information call or address.

FIRE ON JAPANESE

Battalion of Korean Soldiers Creates a Disturbance In Seoul.

OBJECT TO DISARMAMENT

The Koreans Killed and Wounded Number About Sixty and Japanese Forty.

The Process of Disarming the Korean Army Will Be Continued Over the Country.

Seoul, Aug. 2.—A Korean battalion of the First Shiwa regiment of Korea mutinied yesterday against the disarmament and engaged in a fight for over eight hours with the Japanese troops near the consulate quarter with rifles and a machine gun.

Reports give the number of killed and wounded as sixty Koreans and forty Japanese. About 3,000 men willingly disbanded, marching without arms through the parade ground, where, according to rank, they received gratuities ranging from 25 to 80 yen. At 8 o'clock in the morning the minister of war read the rescript of disarmament to the higher Korean officers at the house of Gen. Hasegawa.

Major Paksung Huan, commander of the first battalion of the first Shiwa regiment returned to the barracks and committed suicide. This excited his subordinates and also a battalion of the second Shiwa, who attacked two Japanese officers and their orderlies. One battalion marched on the south gate, where a clash occurred in which Capt. Kajiwara and two others were killed. Over 100 Koreans escaped with their rifles and divided into two bands. They are still abroad, but on account of the rain no trouble is expected today.

The rescript of disarmament begins by saying that the existing army of hirelings in unfit for the native defense and orders them to disband and receive a gratuity and not to commit any reprehensible acts.

Marquis Ito in his audience with the emperor in the afternoon assured the emperor of his complete safety. Marquis Ito provided the foreign consulates with guards last night as a precaution for safety.

The Japanese military take the credit for a prompt suppression of an outbreak; having prepared to suppress all garrisons in the event of a sympathetic uprising.

The imprisonment of fugitives from Shiwa regiment continues. The remainder of the Korean army distributed throughout the country, will be disbanded as fast as the imperial rescript reaches the different stations. No trouble is anticipated. The resident general regards the urgent question, that relating to abdication, be settled, and believes that an army of several thousand Japanese is sufficient to maintain order.

TO THE NORTH AGAIN

Robert E. Peary About to Start on Another Polar Trip.

Portland, Me., Aug. 2.—Commander Robert E. Peary, who is staying with his family at Eagle Island, stated that he will start for New York and then for the north just as soon as the boilers are installed in the Roosevelt. He could not state definitely when that will be, but hopes to start within a week. He expects to be in winter quarters by Sept. 5. There will be no change either in his general course or in the size of his party, which this time will not be divided at all, but will be kept in a compact body. Commander Peary said that he had acquired no "new-fangled idea," and that he knows just what he needs and will take that and nothing more. None of his family is going with him.

Outgrowth of Idle Stories.

Rome, Aug. 2.—It is declared in Catholic circles that the revelations regarding immoral practices on the part of the Salesian fathers at Varazze are greatly exaggerated. They are an outgrowth, it is said, of stories that were circulated a year ago when a young priest named Bertane left the convent; the anti-clerical papers have based their entire case upon an isolated incident, and pupils of the schools have been incited to make false confessions.

Turned on the Gas.

New York, Aug. 2.—Unable to endure the separation from her husband, held in a German prison as a deserter from the German army, Mrs. Rebecca Fischel, a young woman, tried to kill herself and her two children by turning on the gas in her home in Williamsburg. When a janitor broke in the Fischel apartment he found the five-year-old daughter Lilly dead and the mother and twelve-year-old son dying.

Raids by Nomadic Tribes.

Harbin, Aug. 2.—During the last few days nomadic bands of Tunguses have made frequent raids in Russian territory. A sudden exodus of Chinese merchants and servants is taking place, similar in character to the exodus before the Boxer uprising. The authorities fear that this may indicate a new approaching trouble with the Chinese.

CONTEST OF ENDURANCE

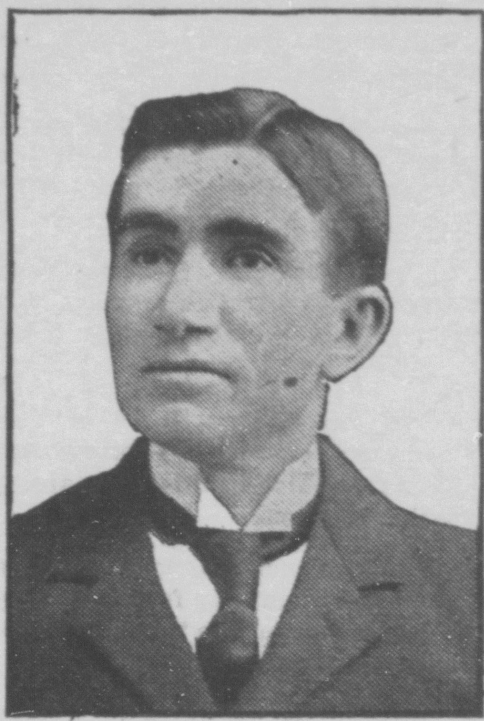

This Seems to Be the Status of Minnesota Strike.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 2.—An understanding has been reached between representatives of the state, the steel corporation and the striking iron workers as to the future conduct of the strikers and sheriff's forces, and, as a result, it is believed, the possible necessity for sending troops to the iron range has disappeared.

After a conference with Sheriff Bates, T. F. Cole, representing the steel corporation, and Teofilo Petriella, the strikers' representative, the following agreement has been reached:

"All marching by the strikers is to cease. There is to be no trespassing on private property. The men shall be allowed to assemble peaceably for the purpose of discussing their interest."

All messages received at the state capital yesterday showed an entire absence of violence. The strike, apparently, has resolved itself into a contest of endurance.

Remarkable Escape from Consumption when Hope Had Fled.

R. H. Lewis, 61 Second St., Gloversville, N. Y., lost 21 pounds in three months, had hemorrhages, and a consultation of physicians gave the verdict that he had consumption, and one lung was nearly gone. He returned from visits to the Adirondack and Catskill Mountains so weak that he could hardly get about. It was at this stage that he began to take Father John's Medicine, the guaranteed cure for throat and lungs. Now he is able to return to work, after two years' illness, and he gives all the credit to Father John's Medicine.
